It's simple.

We are a husband + wife design studio. Okay, well maybe it's not that simple. Essentially, we help small businesses and entrepreneurs tell their stories via web, digital and print graphics.

We bring your vision to life through designs that meets your needs. Books, media kits, websites, package design, and more.

We trust you will love the final product.

At houseofe.studio, we can fulfill all your design needs; think of us as you your cool design friends who live next door.

We want to know all about your brand + the inspiration behind your project. The Why.

How long have you been in business? How will your brand / product differ from others in the industry? What do you want your new branding to accomplish? We will develop a specific plan for your project, to make sure that we understand your vision + voice when developing your creative concepts.

Our clients know their project better than anyone, but it is our responsibility to take it further based on our expertise. With all of the information you provide to us, we will review every detail and begin your brand creation.

This is where we connect your story to your imagery, the objects and spaces we create.

Once your brand's story is developed, we will finalize all files for further production.

The Designer and Client session can have lasting effects, be direct and as thorough as possible. We pride ourselves on developing brands that our clients will ultimately love, but seeing your vision through this process is our priority.
